They have a HQ worldedit plugin I backed my ass up on when he questioned me about what I tried spawning.
I'll probably try and make a live stream and try fucking this up while people watch it live.

Total Freedom, I remember grieving this server with creative reach when Yiffcraft was still being developed, good times.

Afterward they patched the reach, and then I helped them to be a more secure server, which it has become.

This server is not as grievable as it was before, on top of all, the map is frequently being intentionally swapped at each X hours, so grieving this server will just be a pain and a waste of time.

Also, server is online-mode=false, you still can troll on the server with different names, and they never permaban you, only IP tempbans.

They switched the spawn a couple times today because of all what people have been doing. 🤔

I got banned for taking down a whole town by myself on shadowbuilder28 :(
